Noteworthy Information:

Get Goal!! (mid-2003) is IKEYAMADA Go's debut story! The characters were popular enough, that there were three more one-shot stories about them. The first vol. of Get Love!! includes these first four stories and another unrelated one-shot.

The serialized story begins in v2. This series ended in the 23rd issue of Sho-Comi in 2004. It began in the 16th issue of 2003. In v2 (and the rest of v1), expect much improved artwork.

We hope you enjoy this series as much as we do! - Van

GET LOVE!!

<http://groupe.yahoo.com/group/Condensation>

Hello! (Hello?) And nice to meet you! :) I'm Dogenkishi Go. To all of you who have acquired Get Goal!!, my second published book, thank you so very very much!! ♡ 2. ♡

● Sugata at an early stage of design.

This work was born from my desire to draw an energetic action boy.

As for Miki, I intended to draw her much more strongly but she turned out pretty normal. (Perhaps it's a reflection of my plain personality :))

『GET GOAL!!』 while preparing my first debut work. (It's so poorly done. So much that it almost makes me cry I was still going through the drawing process when I drew the design,
so I found myself in the scary situation of my characters looking different in early frames :))

← Incidentally, I originally planned for Sugata to have short, black hair (which I look at it now, it's laughable). But I rethought my decision just before I colored it in and his current hairstyle came to be.

I didn't get much done around the time I was preparing my story for submission to the magazine,
so I used to sit in the company bathroom a lot.
(Chorus work)

④
This is the most comfortable position.

There were times that I exaggerated at the market
better and water for my soup.

(Annotated)

Sample of work. I'm sorry.
(It's a lot less fun to be saying that.)

→ Although I put forth great effort to complete Get Good!, I became increasingly uneasy that it was not the right kind of story for Shō-Gun. I considered not submitting it and putting it aside indefinitely...¹¹

But, my editor asked to see it. I gave it to him casually but he unexpectedly liked it. I couldn't believe it! (I really hadn't thought it would become my debut work...¹²)

Ugh...
It's horrible

When it first appeared in the magazine, my work looked horrible compared to the other manga! and I was pretty depressed...¹³

As for him at the time of Get Good!? I said that appear as a character for the convenience of the story. He was in the book, a walking horse...¹⁴

→ Actually, he does appear in one panel of Love Penalty as well. I doubted anyone would notice, but there were quite a few that did. Amazing!¹⁵

→ In Yellow Card, I drew putting him in for a little bit, wondering if you all remembered him. Unexpectedly there were a surprisingly large number of people who said they liked the "serious Sakuragawa"!¹⁶ (After all, he only appeared in two or three panels.) And I had only put him in as a joke. (I'm using my words now.)¹⁷

After that, by some good fortune, it happened that I was able to draw Love Penalty. Sugita left much like the other male characters in Shō-Gun, so I worried a lot about whether he would be liked.¹⁸ But after that, I had a lot of supporters, and I got the opportunity to draw Yellow Card, so I was very very happy!¹⁹

After my first series, Golden Maiden Revolution?, I (once again) received the opportunity to draw a 9th story in the Get Good! world, High Time!? I had thought Yellow Card was probably going to be the last story so I was so happy I could have cried!²⁰ Thanks to all your support, this work somehow stubbornly continued to live on. I am truly truly grateful!²¹ Thank you so very much!!²²

■ The Guy
After Last Family I received a lot of questions asking "who is that guy?" (Is he the guy in the ending song I received the identity)

Ernie Christopher Michel Hsu Commonly known as Cory-guy / But that
I am fond of this character
(I like mushrooms) I borrowed the name from a friend of my little brother
(Thanks, Giovanni B)

■ Yuko-san (K)
I also borrowed
her name from my friend Yuko-san

I get a lot of people asking "what is ~~~~ the difference in height between Sagara and Miki?"

Sagara is 156 cm Miki is about 162 cm, but because I'm stupid in one part I may have said the difference was about 10 cm
Please overlook that.

I read and update every letter I get (They are in order for my heart.)
Thank you very very much

I'd be happy to hear

tions about this comic

(Sorry)

~~Great~~ Rej~~ected~~ets of a Storyboard

Pages 28-29 of the first draft of the
I Want to Protect You storyboard went like this:

I wanted him to be kinda like a Super Saiyan, but my editor said, 'Having light coming from his body is a bit... (In other words, it's no longer a cheap manga)', and he rejected it. (He was totally right...) The other day, I ran across this storyboard when I was cleaning. After reading it again, I found it so ridiculous that I decided to include it here.

As for I Want to Protect You, that work just popped into my head and was drawn totally through the animation of my delusion. Drawing it was very fun, but it clearly stood out in the special edition of the magazine it appeared in at that time and afterward it became a very embarrassing memory. But lots of the people who read it said they really liked it, so I was relieved. If the opportunity arises again, I'd like to try drawing another silly comic like this. (By the way, I borrowed the main character's name from my best friend, Yuta-chan. Apologies!?)

Thank you so much for coming with me this far! ☺

Sometime this series managed to stubbornly remain alive! It was truly the result of your support that Got Love! made it to book form! (I couldn't have done it through my own power alone.) It was you readers who made my dreams come true! ☺

To somehow repay the favor at least a little bit, I will continue to work hard (like a cart horse) So please, please keep supporting me! ☺

I hope to see you again in my next comic! ☺
